About the Event

Flame Tree Live & Spooky is set to take place over the course of six (6) days, kicking off on Monday October 25 and concluding on Saturday October 30, 2021.

A virtual celebration of #spookyseason, Flame Tree's second annual Creepy Carnival will be simultaneously broadcast on Facebook Live, YouTube, and other platforms, and will feature a range of pre-recorded and livestream sessions with Flame Tree authors, contributors, and team members, as well as a few friends of Flame Tree (and surprises throughout the week)!

Attendees can expect to tune in for exclusive readings, lively discussions, and live Q&As, as well as the chance to interact directly with their favorite authors and win special swag and prizes from Flame Tree.

About Flame Tree

Founded in 1992, FLAME TREE is an independent publisher of books, gift and calendar publications. Specializing in new and award-winning voices in fiction and beautiful collectable editions like the critically acclaimed Black Sci-Fi Short Stories, released in Summer 2021, combining new stories from open submissions and curated classic writing. Led by the Flame Tree publisher Nick Wells in London and executive editor Don D'Auria in NYC, Flame Tree Press was launched in 2018 with the goal of bringing together new authors (such as V. Castro) and the more established (including Ramsey Campbell), the award winners, and exciting, original voices in horror, suspense, science fiction & fantasy, as well as crime, mystery, and thriller fiction.
